The Bureau shall meet at least twice a year on the initiative of its Chair (...)

In particular, the GUB is responsible for feedback from the users' point of view for the management of GANIL.(...)

II-4.5. Report and interaction with GANIL directorate:

The Chair reports to the management on the work of the GUB in the form of a report presenting in particular the status of the GANIL activity from the point of view of the international community, as well as requests for improvements and associated evolution.

RULES OF PROCEDURE OF GIE GANIL (Today)

II-4.2. Composition of the GUB: The Bureau comprises ten members, nine nuclear physicists and one non-nuclear physicist proposed by the Directorate of CIMAP.

Among the nine nuclear physicists,

- 1) one physicist is appointed by the CEA / DSM,
- 2) one physicist is appointed by the CNRS / IN2P3
- 3) seven physicists are elected for a period of four years by a single college composed by the community working at GANIL. This international community is made up of all the nuclear physicists who have carried out or proposed an experiment at GANIL in the four years preceding the election. (...)
